The soft transitions from light brown and sand in the Mountain Oak Beige decor create a balanced and warm room climate.

Dear friends of spaces full of life

Every year, I look forward to the new decors that our product development team creates for the KRONOTEX collection. These hand-picked new decors complement our extensive flooring range perfectly. They add an exciting new twist to the familiar. For that sparkle in your glass. For that little bit of punk in your perfectly organized closet. I myself am a big fan of consistency. That's exactly what our KRONOTEX brand stands for, and I've been working in sales for them for 24 years now. Our floors are reliable, durable, and timelessly beautiful in the best sense of the word. I'm also a down-to-earth person, even though I travel all over the country a lot, of course.

I always carry my home in beautiful Werder an der Havel in the state of Brandenburg in my heart. Because home is not just a place, it is a community and a feeling. In my work, I meet many wonderful people from very different regions. I often imagine what their lives are like and what their homes look like. Five years ago, when we produced our billionth square meter of flooring at the SWISS KRONO factory in Heiligengrabe, we looked for a tangible, imaginable comparison for this gigantic number. Many ideas emerged – all the way to the moon and back.

But as I thought about it, a different image developed in my mind. I saw the homes of our many thousands of customers. In Germany alone, our KRONOTEX floors were part of every household with 25 square meters of living space and thus part of your lives: from getting up to going to bed, romping around, celebrating, playing, arguing, working, eating together, chilling out, or being creative. In other words, part of your everyday lives! Since then, many millions of square meters of flooring have been added to your homes. I am always absolutely thrilled when we are invited to visit people like Carlotta and get to see how you live. Because that is exactly why we manufacture our KRONOTEX floors. And that is exactly why I have been part of the sales team for many years. Consistently down-to-earth – just like our floors. Because I really enjoy being on the road for your places of well-being. See you soon at your home,

Torsten Apitz

Mountain Oak Gold | MAMMUT

Our KRONOTEX flooring are made for just that. They accompany you through your life. They are reliably by your side, really easy to care for, and don't get upset when you rock out. To achieve these wonderful properties, we have invested decades of our engineers' knowledge into developing the KRONOTEX collection. You can dance your shoes off on KRONOTEX floors, but you certainly won't dance the floor off. That's a promise! This year, an absolute highlight is being added to the MAMMUT PLUS, MAMMUT, ROBUSTO, and EXQUISIT collections. Thanks to the new, unique 5G click connection, the flooring are now also waterproof. This means that your new KRONOTEX floor won't mind if liquid is spilled on it. Although it is made of wood, it will not be damaged.

Inspired by nature

Colors are a matter of taste—that much is clear. But no one can escape the effects of colors. It doesn't matter whether you like the color or not.
Natural colors will continue to dominate interior design in 2026. This comes as no surprise, as natural tones turn your home into the perfect place to relax. Green reduces stress, has a relaxing, restorative effect, and stands for growth and freshness. Dark blue will play an important role in 2026, complementing the various shades of green. It stands for calm, trust, and stability. The color symbolizes boundlessness. You can almost sink into an intense, dark shade of blue. Brown tones convey warmth and security. They symbolize reliability, well-being, and consistency, and have an honest and unexcited effect.
Nature also sets the tone for this year's interior design trends in terms of materials. Bast and jute are back in vogue. Fortunately, the trend toward indoor plants continues. The four new decors in the KRONOTEX ROBUSTO collection blend harmoniously into these wonderfully nature-loving living environments, with a play of brown tones and enchantingly lively wood grain in the decor.

A SMALL LESSON IN BERLIN SLANG

JRIEN = GREEN

Tuscany Oak Brown

Our SWISS KRONO factory, where we produce KRONOTEX floors for you, is only an hour's drive from wonderful Berlin. That's why we want to give you a little lesson in Berlin dialect for the next 2026 interior design trend: Nehm' Se jrien. Det hebt! Jrien means green in Berlin dialect. The addition of "det hebt" puts the color green in a positive light. Green is the color of hope, spring, and positive feelings. Det hebt could also be characterized as hip, trendy, or cool. Det hebt can also mean "lifts your spirits" in Berlin. So whether you like green because it puts you in a good mood, is modern, or stays in fashion for a long time, "det is wurscht" or, in standard German, "unwichtig" (unimportant).
The main thing is that you like it!
Nature shows us the ideal color combination for green everywhere. It adds harmonious brown tones. The soft brown variants of the new decors in the KRONOTEX EXQUISIT collection go wonde fully well with the trendy pastel shades of green, creating a cozy and stylish look. The perfect combination of green and brown

Carlotta‘s dream house in Grünow, Mecklenburg!

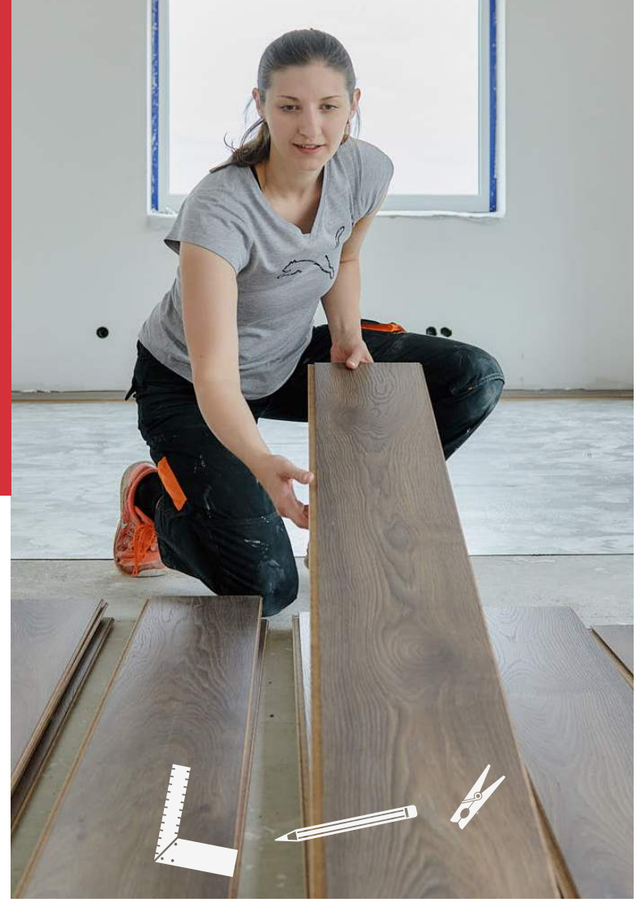

Carlotta and her husband Sebastian have realized their dream of family life in the countryside. After completing their studies, the couple moved to the beautiful Mecklenburg Lake District. Here, in the small village of Grünow, they found the perfect place for their new home. The plans for the house were made. Since Sebastian travels a lot for work, Carlotta took charge of the construction project. She also lent a hand in many areas herself: “I enjoy doing manual work and have realized that I can do a lot of things myself,” says Carlotta. “The important thing is to take the time beforehand to watch DIY videos and read up on things. That way, I avoid negative experiences and enjoy my work!”

Floorselection at your KRONOTEX dealer!

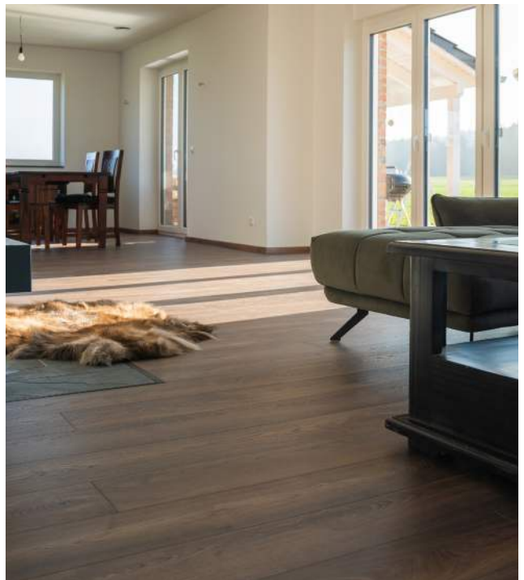

Considering how carefully Carlotta planned the construction of her house, it is not surprising that she did not experiment when purchasing flooring. It was absolutely clear to her that she would select the flooring from our KRONOTEX specialist dealer MEH Parkett in Berlin and not buy it online. “I really wanted to be able to see and touch the flooring,” emphasizes the builder. “It was also important to me to see the planks in both daylight and artificial light. And here in the store, I was able to lay out different floors that I really liked side by side and see how they looked.”

Carlotta Valentin

To lay laminate flooring, you will need:

- a pen
- a few clothes pegs
- a folding rule
- a set square
- a laminate cutter or a saw

DIY at its best.

Flooring selected and delivered. Carlotta was determined to start laying the flooring right away. She had done her homework and couldn’t wait to get started. She was incredibly excited to see how the new flooring would look in her large open-plan living room and kitchen area. Of course, she needed more time to do the work on her own. But she proceeded step by step in a focused manner and made good progress. “I was also able to handle things very well physically,” Carlotta estimates. „The packages with the flooring weren’t too heavy for me and I was able to use the necessary tools well.

JAPANDI

When less is MORE

Whether Japandi or minimalism: both interior design styles have different names. But they share the message of the courage to leave things out as a sign of enhancing the space and creating positive brightness.
Japandi charms with its harmonious, deliberately staged interplay of Japanese and Scandinavian design. A declaration of love for natural materials! The minimalist interior design style enhances empty space by deliberately staging a few high-quality pieces of furniture.
Clear lines and functionality determine the effect.
The perfect counterpart for this type of interior design: a floor in a vdark concrete look from the MEGA PLUS collection by KRONOTEX.
